

Get all the occupational health and employee well-being services your business needs at a fixed monthly rate

HealthPass is a brand new way to support your employees and improve business performance.

Instead of paying for individual occupational health and wellness services from different suppliers all with different approaches and processes, HealthPass wraps all of the services you need into one easy payment.

Altogether better health for hard-working teams

Wouldn't it be great if your business could record fewer injuries and sick days, have a healthier, more productive workforce and see a performance boost from staff? That's the idea behind HealthPass, an all-in-one employee health and wellness service from Habit Health.

You might already be familiar with some of the services we offer, such as counselling and support provided by New Zealand's leading employee assistance programme, EAP Services, occupational health and workplace rehabilitation.

HealthPass is our new all-in-one subscription bundle, allowing teams to access an even wider range of health services at a fixed rate with no annual membership fee. There's a HealthPass Plan to suit teams of any size.
